Rob-
we made it through the grueling
Mr. Nicks class. Too bad he left.
I hope you have a good summer with Monica. #Say hi to Weaver for me.
Love,
Julie

Rob.

High! I'm really glad I got to know you this year. You're a really cool person, and you're a funny guy too. So stay that way.
Well, I'm sure we'll see ya over sum and I hope ~~we~~ we get se classes together next year.
Well see ya around.

Love

Rob,

hows it going? I'm really glad that Monica and you are going out. Both of you look good together; anyday. I really enjoyed you having sit right next to me in graphic arts. You are really nice Rob! you and Monica better not party to much!
Or well I hope you have-a good summer.

Love Jacque R.

Dear Bobby,
Another year's has passed I'm sure your as excited as I am to be to going to be I'm sure
at the beach I did every day last year. I hope you had a good year and I'm happy for you and Monica Lass and P.S. next year Jake let you'll be next you're not year to class! go to H.S. It is Bye - U.C. Rebecca P.

P.S. Have a great summer and see ya next year.
Love,

Rob
I am glad in virginia together alot & then (when I there). Have a Summer and party alot
See ya next year!
Love,
Danielle
Jones

Rob, we've known each other for about 3 years (is that right?) and im glad we met, you're super sweet, and nice. G.A. has been fun with you, maybe ill see you over summer, probably so? well take good care of monica, you two make a good couple. Have a fun summer. Take care, Suzanne Ruthy - Oh glad that we became friends like years, you are a really nice person to know, and I want really to get out these tasks we have had to do but want for you, who wanted to do all my problems to? like the way you wish you the best of luck w/everyone, you two make a nice couple (but you know that!) + I wish me the best of luck with like that! Next time I see you I'll be more prepared with two books and are a buddy!

Love ya,
Ruthy

Hey Robbie,
We made it through another year
it was fun having you in school were there! Take first time few years back when I brother motorcycle by house. You and have a great summer take care of your see you next year

Love ya,
Robbie

obby - Im glad that we ere in the same Amer-n Lit class! That class s a lot of fun! I ope you have a fun summer, t I don't think I have to tell you at cuz I know you will!! Ill see at the beach and around!!

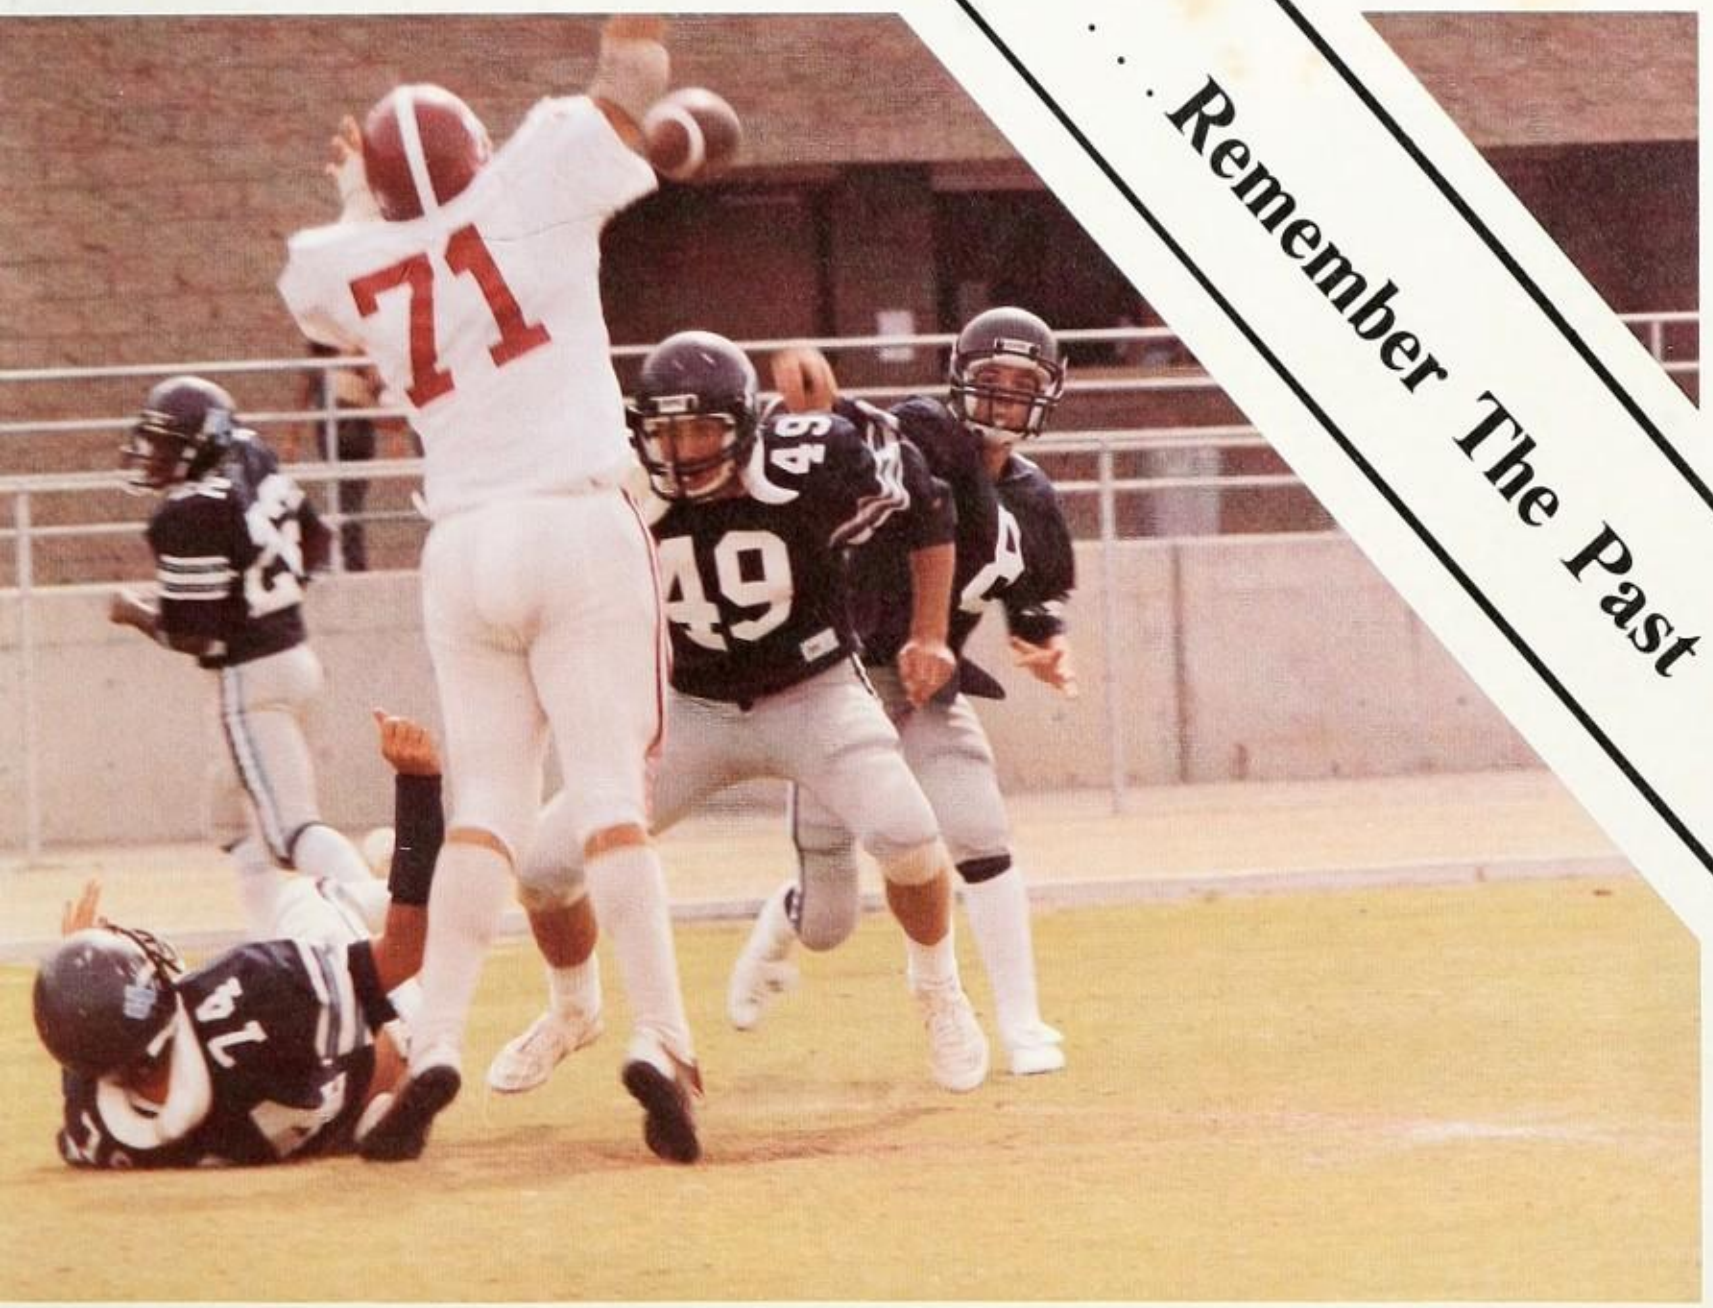
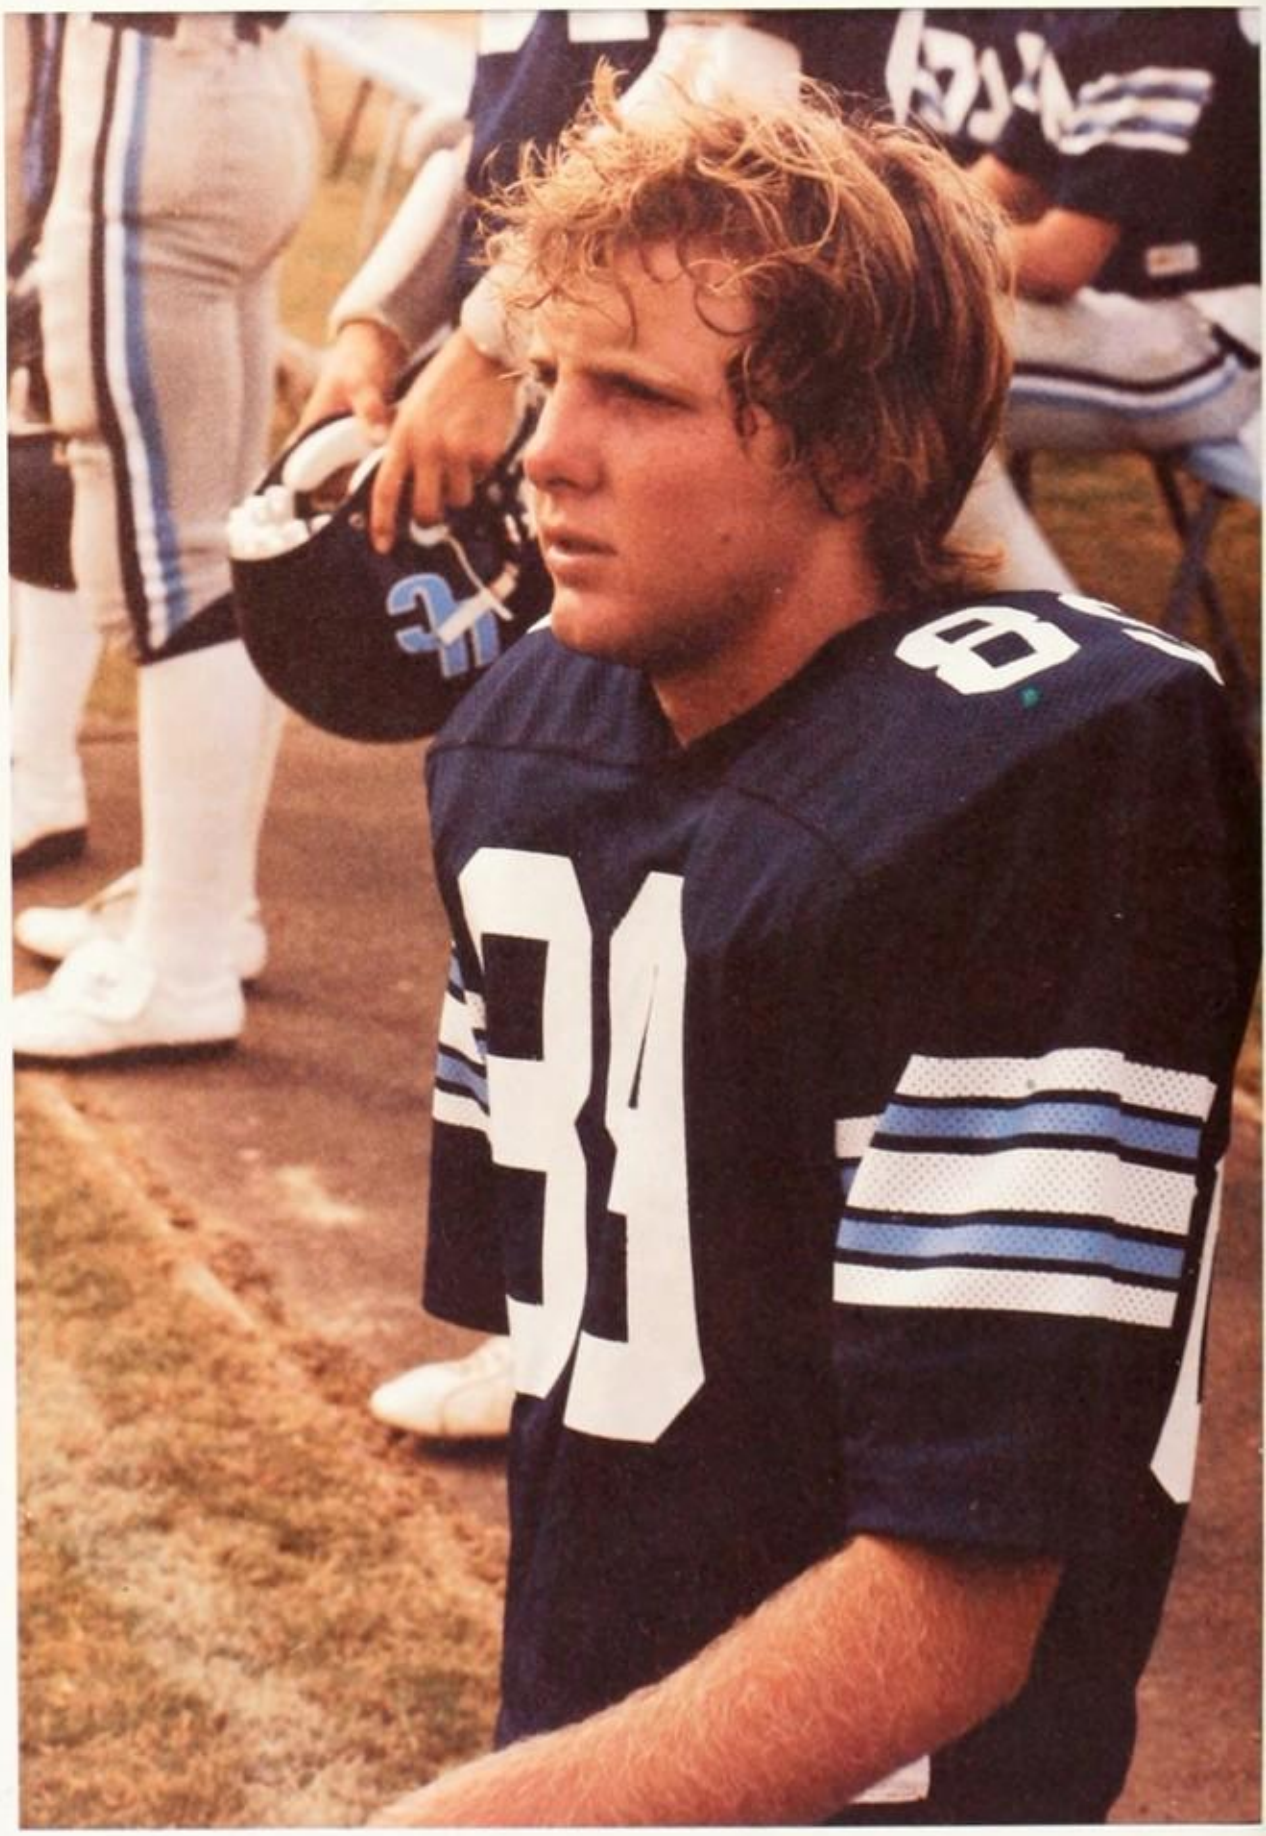
Look To The Future . . .

. . . Remember The Past





Unforgetable! Memories are brought back to life and recaptured in the high school yearbook. Fond moments are relived from the past. Those fun times spent in the sun with friends and fellow students, partaking in various exciting activities; hanging out at the local pizza parlor, going out to the movies, or going to the varsity football game. Cruising to parties and dances on Friday and Saturday nights also fill the schedule of the high school student. Then there are those special events during the year such as the Prom and Homecoming, and all the worries involved. For the guy such questions as, "Who should I take? Where will I take her for dinner? Where do I get the money?" For the girl the concern can get even worse. Spending numerous hours by the phone or door hoping for that special guy to ask the big question. This is the type of hectic activity that is so pleasurable to look back upon in our social life. In addition to our social life, however, is our academic life. This aspect when set together is what gives our high school years the well rounded shape desired. It is in high school that most of our future decisions are made. College, Tradeschool or employment are the choices to select from. Trying to plan your life for the best possible outcome. Gathering as much education as possible and struggling through the academic week composed of homework and tests. When the last bell rings, however, we will all look to the future . . . and remember the past.

CUSHMAN

STAFF

Inspiration Begins At The Top

Students didn't realize the duties of our administration at U.C.H.S. The administration was the backbone of the school, the key that made this school run smoothly. Heading this department was Principal Catherine Hopper. Mrs. Hopper not only fit and exercised the definition of a Principal, but she also surpassed it! Working the long and involved hours, for the benefit of a student body and school in which she believed in, had been a tedious but rewarding job. Her two energetic Vice-Principals Mr. Joseph Tafoya and Ms. Mary Castleberry aided as well as advised her on many community and school activities. Working together they built a structure of unity between teacher and student that was to be a never-ending trust.

Aiming Students Toward Success

Most students perceived the idea that Counselors were there for one reason only; to change or drop classes off a students schedule. This was a fallacy. Head Counselor Boyd Gilliland and colleagues Dr. Keating, Ms. Brookes, and Ms. Steinhart combined; advised the bulk of the student body at U.C.H.S. Their duties also covered such areas as; class adviser, assisting in student happenings, College Prep. Aide, news informers and other areas of which they were not always accredited for. The Counselors were there to advise you, as well as to be your friend. The success of the counseling department was due to the true spirit of dedication and commitment that was unique among our counseling staff.

Necessary People Make It Work

The classified staff at UCHS had many hard working and dedicated people who kept our campus running "smooth." Our cafeteria staff started their jobs early in the morning to prepare the meals served each day. Not only feeding UCHS, they prepared meals for six other schools. The custodians, calling themselves the "Clean Sweeps," managed to keep our campus beautiful while doing other odd jobs. The many jobs performed by the secretaries affected all of the students. Their jobs ranged from recording grades to keeping track of sports, ASB money and other school oriented activities. Our deepest thanks for the services which we too often took for granted.

A strong emphasis in our educational departments provided the students with a wide variety of knowledge during their years at UCHS. Our outstanding academic programs of math, science, foreign language and english earned the teachers an unsurpassed reputation throught the school district. The students consistantly marked high on the competencies and a greater than average percentage of the seniors advanced to higher education following high school. Just to spend a year here is an added advantage to students who are fortunate enough to be a part of the UC curriculum.

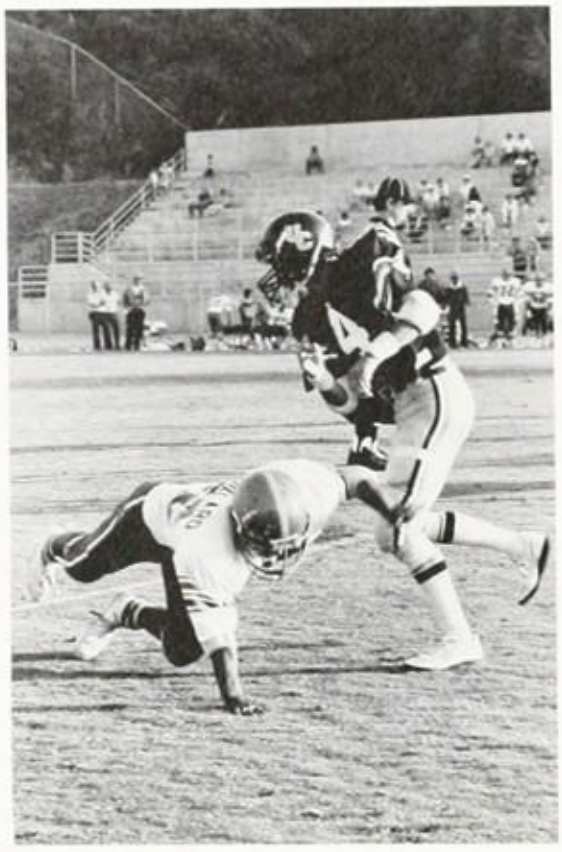
Warriors Afield

History has now been made. The Varsity football squad, led, by team captains Ron Vance and Matt Banet successfully completed their first season. Their coaches were Coach Vukojevich, Coach La Motte, Coach Pais and Coach Hill who used their expertise to improve the performance of the team. They started their practices two weeks before school began in an attempt to be fully prepared for the season ahead. They played such teams as Clairemont, the defending C.I.F. champions, which made their schedule that much more difficult. Albert Crosby, Darnell Hopkins and senior Greg Haap made great yardage for the Centurions as recievers. The defense made a large improvement over the season with such people as Steve Carpowich, Matt Banet, Don Fess, Glen Lublin and Matt Brock. Although the statistics were not all that great, the team played hard and recieved alot of support from the students and community.



Bill McDonald fakes his Clairemont defender.

Junior Varsity Soars!

Energetic, optimistic, enthusiastic, hard working, and very respectful, were some of the many ways that described the Junior Varsity Football team. They began practices a week before school started and everyday after from 1:30pm until 4:00pm. On the field they worked together to produce a great season, and prove how competitive they were in their games. Also this year, the J.V. team passed much more on the average than any other J.V. football team. Both teams were aided by the First Baptist Church, here in U.C. The church twice supplied dinners, and a few Charger Highlight films on a couple of fridays after their games. Coach Yandall had hoped to go undefeated but, "We had a enjoyable year and things went well."

Eric Hendrix breaks through the defense for a gain.

Spiking It For The Win

Hard work. That's what it took for the 1982-83 Volleyball team to come as far as they did. The team consisted of many returning players and a few new ones. Ms. Patterson was a great help as she used her coaching abilities to earn a credit towards her masters degree. They met as a team two weeks before school started and practiced for many long hours to achieve their own standards of performance. The team was a little disappointed because this year they had to share their courts in the gym and their practice time with the newly formed Badminton team. But in the long run, it improved their playing on the challenging sand courts near the gym. "It was a little disappointing because we lost Ms. Scanlon, our coach last year," commented Katy Kellers "but her advise enabled us to continue on."

Coach Patterson gives her team encouragement.

J.V. Sets It Up

Using enthusiasm and consistency as their lance and broadsword, our J.V. Volleyball team conquered the tyrants of the Western league, and established a presidence for future members. One of their main assets was their coach Lori Schwalbach, who before coming to us was previously the assistant Basketball coach at U.S.I.U. "There aren't any outstanding players", says coach Schwalbach, "they're all well rounded and supportive of each other."

Girls Tennis . . . Smashing Success!

Monica Meyers exhibits volleying style.

The 1982-83 Girls Tennis Team did very well in their second year of competition. The members met everyday after school to practice for their upcoming matches, and their time and efforts were rewarded when they produced a winning season. With the help of their dedicated coach, Miss Thompson, the team strove to accomplish higher personal goals and as a result of their intense practices, the team found a strong sense of unity.

Keep Your Eye On The Birdie!

Being the first season of competition for the Badminton team, Coach Scanlon considered it more of a learning situation than an actual competitive year.

The team hoped to break 500 this season which was said to be a very reasonable goal for a first year team. It was also predicted that although there are no team finals expected, there will be a few individual finals.

Previous to this year, Coach Scanlon had coached Badminton for seven years. Her team this year consisted of thirty-two members. Only seven teams played at a time, so she always had eighteen extra players to choose from should something come up.

Strides For Perfection

A successful year for the U.C.H.S. Boys Cross-Country team was achieved because of the support they had for one another. The team was willing to put forth the time and effort which was needed to become more skillful. With many returning runners from last year, plus incoming participants, U.C.H.S. had a well rounded team of 56. Entering his second year of coaching U.C.H.S. Boys Cross-Country, coach Rick Mitchell felt the team accomplished their goals that they had set for themselves. It wasn't just the winning. It was team satisfaction.

Varsity Soccer Kicks Off A Successful Season

"Excellent", was how Head Coach Donaldo Viana described this year's Varsity Soccer Team. The team was comprised of nineteen dedicated and determined players, fourteen of which were returning from last year. During their strenuous practices, the players worked on controlling the ball, improving passes, and making goals. Playing consistantly enabled the players to become a very competitive team. Their teamwork and winning attitude paid off in a very successful season.

Beyond The Fringe

Not all athletically inclined students were involved with school sports. Many spent countless hours and hard work on their individual interests. These sports ranged from kayaking and soccer to riding rapids down the Colorado River. Whether their hobbies gave them National recognition or just the satisfaction of self accomplishment, all that counted was that they were having fun!

On The Run

U.C. High is beginning to show its prowess in athletics. In its second year of existence our J.V. Boys Cross Country team has placed first in its league. "What can I say?", says Coach Mitchell. "They're very good. They're ranked third in the county". Many of the J.V. team played intermittently on the varsity team for a mutually auspicious season. Coach Mitchell has great aspirations for the J.V. team next year. Losing only three seniors this year will give them an even better year in 1983.

Varsity Bounces Into Action

In the months following December the source of excitement and entertainment was found with the UCHS basketball team. With ten out of thirteen players returning the team put forth a tremendous amount of fast pace and fancy footwork. Having played together the past year helped out extremely, for in 1983 they worked together more as a team. All the players stood out but as a team they were even better. Jon Ekeroth and Matt Brock were two of the outstanding players who brought the team together.

Basketball was one of the main events of the winter sport season and the teams spirits were high in preparation for another superb year. Under the unyielding guidance of Coach Vukojevich, seven sophomores and five returning juniors, made up the 1982-83 Junior Varsity Basketball team. They began practice at 3:00 p.m., following the Varsity team workouts and ended at 5:30 p.m. During practice they worked on improving their skills for each upcoming game. They had some struggles and compared to other league teams, "Our Junior Varsity players tended to be on the short side", commented Coach Vukojevich.

Individual efforts stood out throughout the year and enhanced the total team performance. The team, under the guidance of Coach James Berger and led by Chris Henderson competed strongly in the western league.

Predominantly made up of sophomore and junior players, the team not only participated in matches but also spent many hours perfecting tennis skills necessary for continuing excellence.

Swinging Into Action

University City High has been in one of the most dominating leagues since their existence. The young team, however, played competitively through the season, and never gave up against such tough defenders as Misson Bay and Point Loma.

Having seven returning veterans, added to the experience and unity of the team. A few exceptional players moved up from J.V., and with a couple of new acquisitions, the team had well rounded talent. Defense was their strongest point, and with extra effort, their offense improved over the season.

With their aggressive style of play, the Centurions left their fans anxious for the following year.

"Very competative players", stated Junior Varsity softball coach Lori Schwalbach. She was very impressed with the intensity coming from each of he girls, their attitudes, and the enthusiasm they put forth during each game and practice.

Cooperation and unity led them to play a great season. Heather Phillips did an excellent job as pitcher and was backed up by a powerful defense.

Taking It In Stride

The boys' track team did very well in competition this season despite the late start due to rain. The team's outstanding performance was credited to the long hours of practice after school, consisting of a half mile warm-up, and stretching under the supervision of Coach Mitchell. The team was consisted of nearly a dozen returning athletes and an enthusiastic new group. "The unity was an important part of the boys' success," Coach Mitchell commented. "They had lots of hard workouts and they gave it their all." Their season ended with high hopes for an equally winning team next year.

"A very energetic and enthusiastic team," was how Coach John Odou described U.C. High's first co-ed Swim Team. The twenty-four dedicated and highly motivated swimmers practiced two and a half hours per day at the Boy's Club in Clairemont. Being a new team, their goal this year was to build a solid swimming program from which their skills could be developed. Baseball has always been a source of excitement and enthusiasm. With this years' strong defense and pitching the team looked toward the season optimistically.

With many players able to perform well in two positions, Coach LaMotte was able to juggle the line of offense and defense, keeping there opponents continuously on their toes. With many competitive players who knew what they were doing and how to do it well, the team gained the experience to command respect for the future years.

J.V. Baseball Comes On Strong

This year's J.V. Baseball team consisted of fourteen well rounded and hard working players. A lot of time and effort was put into practices and games. Their practices were led Coach Vukojevich, and for two to three hours a day, consisted of running, batting and fielding practice. Despite the fact that the team was short on experience, they fought hard and ended the season with a very respectable record. "Everyone got along well and did their best throughout the whole season," commented Coach Vukojevich, and "I felt the team was twice as strong as last year's." Over all it was a good season for the Junior Varsity baseball team. The players gained experience, and in the process prepared themselves for varsity play.

Shooting Stars

The J.V. Girls Basketball team consisted of many talented players who performed tremendously this past year. All the players were a benefit to the team because their performance was outstanding and many of them put alot of time and effort practicing after school. The J.V. Girls Basketball team was a wealth of talent and had the potential to become, in later years, western league contenders. Coach Schwalbach anticipated that having a powerful rebound and a strong defense would play a major part in the teams' success. Guidance from seniors inspired the girls to do their best.

This years' girls basketball team was filled with many difficult experiences. They started off slowly but by the end of the season they had matured into better players. Everyday after school, the girls worked harder than the day before, learning from each other and picking up tips from their opponents. With seven returning players, the team knew what to expect from the competition. The team played to their full potential in very game, working as a unit.

Girls Cross-Country Takes The Lead

Strength, ability and talent. That's what it takes to be successful. U.C.H.S. Girls Cross-Country team proved to be better than ever. They had enough in fact, to take them to C.I.F. finals. Their sense of will power and competitive spirit kept them in front constantly in the competition.

Hours of hard intense practice and unlimited dedication payed off in the end. When the team went to C.I.F. they competed very successfully against some power house teams. The final outcome was a U.C.H.S. Girls Cross-Country team that became closer and more experienced than any other up to date.

Making Tracks

Forty Varsity girls competed in a myriad of events on the large and powerful girls track team. Their coach Mrs. Thompson's outlook on her team was superb, "Although we lost our first meet the loss was to last years league champs La Jolla". The team improved over the summer and it's members started breaking school records at the first meet. The girls could compete in a maximum of four events. The distance runners usually ran one to two events, while the sprinters competed in the full four. "We're strong and we're good!", commented sprinter Nikki Weaver. The large squad performed well and finished with a victorious season.

Most of the students at U.C.H.S. had no idea of the great deal of time and effort the A.S.B. put into their school to provide an enjoyable atmosphere. The officers spent countless hours of participation and frustrations for the activities that many take advantage of. All of their work was done after school and during their own spare time. The extra-curricular activities can be attributed to the few leaders that were willing to give their all to please the student body. Among the many contributions they made were planning the Homecoming, Spirit Week 82, Halloween activities, the Powderpuff game and countless others too numerous to list. Mr. Price, the A.S.B., advisor had a goal in September to provide a program that would involve the most students possible and as the year progressed it was evident his goal had been fulfilled.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Clines, the International Club started its first successful year at U.C.H.S. in September. The club was comprised of ten students, each with a different cultural background. The International Club was intended to promote friendship and understanding between students of different cultures and backgrounds. The members took part in many activities that helped the students learn more about each other. The club also organized several fund raising events to help raise money for the end of the year's International Fair. The president of the club was Avideh Yaghmai and she felt this year was a success. "We had a lot of active members and we all enjoyed being together and meeting other people."

A Time For Cheers

"The relationship of the squad was more than just cheering this year, it was building friendship," commented Olivia Price, the Head Cheerleader of the squad. The girls practiced over the summer every day to perfect their cheers, three hours per day for football, and two hours for basketball. The year began with a four-day session cheerleading camp at Santa Barbara. At the camp they won a plaque for the hardest working squad and a trophy for the best over-all cheer. For voters registration day, they competed against Clairemont and Madison High School in a dance at the U.C.H.S. gym and won.

They then went on to compete against four more high schools in the district at the Civic Center in downtown San Diego. Most felt that a good relationship of the squad led to better cheers.

This year's squad was comprised of eight enthusiastic girls who spent much of their time and effort cheering at J.V. games. Although all the cheerleaders worked hard to raise school spirit, the most difficult job wentto Kim Fleshman, who had the honor of being elected head cheerleader. Because of their demanding duties as cheerleaders, many girls had to give up jobs and other outside activities that interferred. Even so, they all agreed that cheerleading was definitely worth it.

The student store, run by the cafeteria personnel had a second successful year of operation. The students who donated their time by working in the store, received class credit for their efforts.

The store was enjoyed by many students, being convenient to get the necessities needed for school. Even a few snacks to hold the students throughout the day were available. It was a very successful idea, and worked well, with a monthly percentage of the profits going to aid the ASB.

Some of the activities that were included in achieving integration were student rap and orientation groups. These programs allowed students to ask questions and talk about their concerns. Every student enrolled in a Social Studies class had ten hours of Race Human Relations instruction. The UCHS staff also participated in several workshops on the subject. Through these many activities the Race Human Relations committee has set up, it is hoped that students may begin to realize that similarities and differences occur in individuals, not in groups.

The Land Of Make Believe

The Drama Club consisted of approximately thirteen members, who met during lunch and discussed drama activities to be presented to the community and to the school. They also performed skits within the classroom, and the community. They rehearsed after school for two and sometimes three hours, along with designing their own stage sets. All members worked very hard to make their club and activities a success.

Getting Closer To Fame

The Citadel was a literary magazine filled with creative writing and artwork submitted by the students from U.C. High. This magazine was the only one of its kind published at this school. It was very important for recognition last year because Quest, the district magazine, was no longer being published.

The purpose of the magazine was to encourage students to have their artwork and creative writing published. When all the entries had been received, six hard working students spent countless lunch hours reviewing and editing the manuscripts. They were then put together for the one edition of the Citadel which came out in May.

Making News Available

The name remained the same but the staff was improved immensely! Under the guidance of Mrs. Phalen and editor-in-chief Stephanie Wells, the class reported the local and school activities. Other features included, student opinions, outstanding athletes, superior students and Bret Wilson's outlook on life. All the reporting, photography and layouts were done by the students. The Commander was well equipt with last year's returnies and the knowledgeable new comers. The staff successfully reported and published The Commander for a greatly improved second year.

Castmasters

The Fishing Club was re-instated for yet another year to discuss that fish that got away! Under the supervision of science teacher Bill Reed, the group traveled to many fishing locations in San Diego county. They often went to Miramar Lake and on a few occasions went ocean fishing on commercial fishing boats. Awards were presented for the biggest fish and most fish caught during their final meeting. They obtained apporximately twenty-five coed members. The average number of fish caught by each member was twenty-five.

Visual Effects

The purpose of the Graphic Arts Club was mainly to give students the opportunity to finish or get ahead with class projects. In addition, the advanced students worked on productions for the school and printed material for the community.

The club met every Wednesday after school from two to five P.M. These students took advantage of the extra time given to them and used it wisely. Participating in the club was also a rewarding experience for each member because they were able to use learned skills in producing creative projects on their own. Mr. Schofield received tremendous assistance from his T.A.'s, Jennifer Schultze, Tony Reed, Kevin Hugli, Debbie Fugita, Mike Boren and Mike Nerenberg.

Students In Gear

After two years of operation, the Auto Shop Club proved to be a very successful extra curricular activity. Interested students of all grade levels were able to go to the well equipped Auto Shop after school and work on their cars. Among the available facilities are an engine analyzer, a brake lathe, a valve grinder, and a four-post hoist to make their projects easier and safer. Mr. Scanlan, the advisor, with his high standards of achievement set an invaluable precedent for his students.

Kent Korzon and Mike Boren were dedicated workers.

Scholarship For Service

The California Scholarship Federation was a unique organization for high school students with exceptional academic abilities.

These students were offered special opportunities, including college scholarships set aside for members of more than four semesters. There were also awards given to high achievers in the club, such as $500 to the outstanding boy and girl in each of five regions, and the Seymour award, which was a memorial to the founder of CSF.

There were certain requirements that had to be met before a student could become a member, such as an approved application, a $1.25 fee, and a minimum of ten CSF points coming from academic classes only.

More Than Fancy Footwork

"What can I say, the performance was fantastic. It was a tremendous success and the audience was great!" replied Josie Scanlan, the dance production teacher, after their first performance entitled "Fantasy, Funk and Frolic."

Sixty-five girls took part in the dance production which was held during periods three and four.

The preparation for the production took thriteen weeks, which consisted of hard work, dedication and many extra hours spent after school and during lunch.

Although this being the first year in existence, all productions ran smoothly and were well received.

The Apple Of Our Eye

For some twenty members of the Computer Club, a computer is the Apple of their eye. Their supervisor, Mr. Sternom, instructed a large number of students in the use of the Apple Computer. In these days of high technology the Apple proved to be capable of improving with the times. The computer does only what man tells it to but faster than humanly possible. This organization met every Wednesday in room 436 for an hour and a half. Some of the students just played games but a majority of the members were either just starting out or into designing programs. "The computer is a dumb machine, soft wear (programs) makes it run." commented Mr. Sternom. The Computer Club enables them to do just that, in their own spare time.

Death

People write about death everyday
How do they know the price you pay?
They've never been there until they're gone
It's not a button you can turn off or on
You think everything is going great
Your relationship with that person is full of fate
People say and write that death is grim
How do they know until its hit them?
All the gifts and secrets we shared
Are like no others, it was very rare
I'll never forger the memories and love
While I look into her eyes up above
The death of a friend is very grieving
But you can never stop, just keep believing
I thought I had a friend for life
But death took her away with that piercing knife
I must have been too selfish with my friend
Because God took her away and made it The End.

An Everlasting Rose

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED...

What it would be like to fly so high you could touch the sky.
Walk down the street
and have people
remember your name.
To live forever.
To dance upon your toes.
To soar through mid-air.
To give it all you have, and gain recognition applause.
To slide down a rainbow.
To sing, and dance in the rain.
To be one in a million
To be you...

To You Only

To live and love with you and be one forever
To be near and reach out and touch you
To make love with you, laugh with you, cry with you, talk with you, and be silent with you.
To hold you close every night, to wake with you each morning
To share with you my secrets and to be honest.
To understand and respect you, accepting you for you
To find shelter in you when I'm afraid and
To hold you when I need warmth.
To be with you through all the seasons, walking in the snshine and cuddling in the cold
To care for you when you are ill and to be joyful when you are happy To grow old and be with you until I grow old, and my time has come to end
With you only I want all these things.
For you only I would do all these things.
To you only, All my love.

Thank you friend,
for being here.
It helps to know,
your always near.

When school ends,
and we must part,
I'll keep you near,
Deep in my heart.

And one bright day,
our paths will cross.
And I will know,
You were never lost.

Interlude

Lying in the meadow eyes closed
mind flickering images of time gone forever
How sad was the scent of heather Thundering hoofs across a wild Untouched moor sad because I was happy then and happiness was an interlude
which did not last and then all I had were memories
My spirit was transported back to things gone by and I turned over and sobbed burying my head in the cool earth and sweet grasses and was comforted.

ock /N/ Roll Ballad

his is the story of a, ock/N/Roll ally,

n ally so strong that ven dreams couldn't die.

e was a young and
arefree sort of man, aying "Come on,

opy me, if you can!

e loved to sing and lay his guitar

nowing one day he /ould be a great star.

umming while strumming is precious toy

miling and chuckling like pleased little boy.

e wrote his own songs
nd played his own tunes

ever playing anything nyone else used.

e joined in a band /ith him in the lead

nd that's where he planted is well formed seed.

he seed grew and grew
It knew no bounds

Guitar finding new rhythm, voice, new sounds

His name made big times
He knew the score

People would scream
And shout for more!

He signed a contract
His life for fame

Never knowing his dream
Would only bring pain.

He aged with the years
Rocks changing ways

He changed with the tune,
Determined to play.

Everyone knew him
His voice, his style

Fans came to see him
From many a mile.

As he got older and More run down

His dream had changed
To his own home town.

He struggled and strained
Against his inner turmoil

But finally relented and Returned to his soil.

He made his appearance
What a sight to behold!

It was a night among nights
That would often be told.

The people, they loved him
You could feel their screams

And this he realized
Was the end of his dreams.

With this in mind
He gave his all

Holding everyone in Animated enthrall

He never played so well
In his life

But he knew he'd come home and put an end to his strife.

Now he's gone,
"Cause unknown"

But no one can replace
Him upon his throne.

He played his guitar
And thus he died

The end of "The Star".

Let's Have A Ball

University City High School's first ASB Ball was held Friday March 18, 1983 in the Corinthian Room of the Scottish Rite Temple. Students "Stepped Out" to the sounds of Incognito and a D.J.

The Corinthian Room was transformed into a 1920's social event with a black and white color scheme and murals of the New York City skyline decorating the walls. Many hours of anxiety, preparation and excitement all paid off in a thoroughly enjoyable evening for all.

A Night Of Music

Lights, Camera, Action-and on with the show! The second annual Talent Show was held in the UCHS auditorium, on February 15th and 16th. This year's talent presented students, faculty and friends, with an all musical show which was hosted by the Senior class. Both shows included sell-out crowds who were delighted by the wide variety of musical entertainment.

Night Of Scenes

A hush fell over the crowd as the house lights dimmed. A night of action packed performances began. Scenes from such works as "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay", "The Children's Hour", and "You Can't Take It With You" enthralled the audience.

Members of the beginning Drama class spent many hours practicing after school as well as during class. For most of the students it was their first time performing before a paying audience. The money collected from this performance went to the Drama department to fund future productions.

Out To Lunch

11:25 a.m. students rushed through the hallways to the parking lot. Many piled in their cars and skidded out of U.C. High on two wheels. Most students headed to University Towne Center for a variety of international foods, while others went to near by fast food restaurants.

Students at University City High were given the choice to eat on or off campus everyday. Some found it difficult to spend their lunch off campus, because of the limited half hour time period. The few who chose to leave found this freedom enjoyable.

Steppin' Out In Style

Fads and fashions come and go. This school year was filled with unforgetable styles. Hemlines grew shorter into the "mini" skirt look. Hair also was shorter in the "GQ" or mod style. Guys in general began to have the more "dressed up" look. Tennis shoes were replaced by leather Topsiders. Members Only jackets and Alligator shirts were also favorites. Other styles were Bermuda shorts, Vaurnet glasses, argyle socks and Walkman recorders filled the campus. Next year will prove to have more fads and fashions but the school year of 82-93 will be remembered as the class that "stepped out in style".

The "Student View" production under the supervision of John Collins was a news column with campus and community activities. It was aired over closed circuit television in various English classes. The show began in the second semester during a fifth period Media Productions class. Sheila Wenzel and Terry Naylor were the co-anchorpersons, with Troy Duncan on Sports. With Matt Wass as the producer, and nearly 20 students responsible for the camera, sound and script, the show ran smoothly. The purpose of the production was to make a successful student information show and as the year progressed the Media Production team was satisfied with a job well done.

Drama Takes Successful Steps

"I was really pleased with the performance." said Belinda Saracino, advisor and director of "Up The Down Staircase." Presented on December 9th and 10th, it was a comedy/drama with Julie Marvin, Stephanie Wells, and Bill Baddour leading the well talented cast. The actors and actresses did a fine job in convincing the audience of the story which took place in an American school. The Stagecrew provided the lighting, sound, and sets, and without these assistants the production would have been impossible. Students, teachers, and parents alike enjoyed the excellent entertainment.

Off The Job

Sometimes it's hard to believe that teachers have a life outside of school. Although once at home, they have papers to correct and grades to make out, they are involved with other activities. It may seem unusual for the head coach of the PE department, Coach LaMotte playing the Trombone in a professional band called the "Windjammers". When Mrs. Noakes has free time she can be found out on the golf course. Ms. McGowan, in her spare time takes her four Irish Setters for a walk in San Clemente Canyon. If the surf is up, Mr. Yandall will be out catching the waves at a local beach. Riding and racing motorcycles is a favorite pastime of Mrs. Climes. Teachers, like students, look forward to the weekends to spend time involved with their individual activities and interests "off the job".

Students At Work

Many of the U.C.H.S. students acquired part-time jobs in addition to their school schedule. Friday nights, after school activities, and free time were frequently forgotten to pursue these jobs for career experience. Some students enrolled in Work Experience qualified to recieve school credit for working depending on the amount of hours worked. The jobs ranged from fast food places, being the most popular, to clothes stores and gas stations. The Work Experience program was very successful and beneficial to students and everyone involved.

A Celebration To Remember

U.C.H.S. cheerleaders reunited for the Homecoming game.

November 12th marked the day of U.C.H.S. first Homecoming. Although there were no alumni, the day wa a tremendous success. At 2:30 the excitement started with a football game against Mission Bay and ended with a semi-formal dance held in the gym. The chosen court led the traditional Homecoming spotlight dance to the theme song "Celebrate Me Home". The music was provided by Side F-X and the Boogie Machine, which kept the festive occasion going.

Spirit At Its Peak

October 18th began the week of festivities throughout the student body known as Spirit Week. This week was held to encourage a sense of school pride and spirit. A licorice rope eating contest on Monday the 18th kicked off the week, followed by a "Rent-A-Cent" auction, where the students bid on the legs of football players. The next day the players became the slave of the highest bidder. On Wednesday, UCHS's students showed their spirit and a little Roman style by wearing many creative and original togas. The band, "Rocks-Off", captivated the attention of the students at lunch time to top off the days activities. The week ended with a school color dress up day and the announcement of the "Pie in the Face" contest finalist. The winner, Mrs. LaPlante, was awarded her prize, of a blueberry cream pie in her face. Rob,

Get ready to read alot. I'm gonna rack my brain thinking of stuff to write. First of all I want to tell you how much you mean to me. You the most special person. We've been through alot together so far but we still have a long ways to go, I can't wait until I get back home after summer.

Babe your such a honey, I'm so happy we're together. I still find it hard to believe I only knew you for 4 days before we started going out, we were practically strangers. Thank god were together and aren't strangers any more. I feel so close to you Rob. I can't thank you enough for all you've done for me - gave me a plant, notes that I love, the plaque?? and most of all cloves. You have me addicted to those, did you relize that?

I've been having so much fun with you. Don't forget about the zoo, the clam, crown point, Soledad, the Wises, the desert and everywhere else we've been together. You have been so good to me and I love you for it. I still have a lot to give to you, to make up for everything you have done for me.

Don't mind me if I always repeat myself, I think I have. When I go away this summer I'm going to miss you most of all. You will always be on my mind and in my heart so you won't be totally missed, just the physical part of you.

You're such a big part of my life now. I look so forward to seeing you in school and everywhere else. You're such a cutie!! I'm the luckiest girl around. I've been waiting for someone to love me like you do for such a long time.

We've had so many good times together. The desert was the best though. We'll forget about all the times I blew chunks. I'm not an experienced partyer like you I guess. Turn this page now, running out of room well? did ya make it through history? What a bore!!! You're a really sweet guy! Good luck with Monica! You guys are so cute! Have a super summer! See you next year!

Love.

Jane
Irvine

I would like to be able to fill the whole page—probably extra people but I guess I hope I'll be able to see you when you read this in the couch with a right sweet to you, sitting couple kids playing with the dreamer. No matter how far you will always me an my heart because you're given me so much. I love you guys so much, like I love you (sounds familiar doesn't it?). I've never met a important thing and that is Your Rob. you're always, Monica Jane Irvine

Rob—
I don't like the way that you left Patty sign your annual it. Maybe I'll see you at the wrestle mania dad are away!
Good luck—
Neil Kraus
P.S. you look real nice in a tux!

Robyn-
I'm really glad you and Monica got together. You two are good for eachother. Monica really needed someone to love, and to be loved back. I really didn't mind dragging you around at lunch, or you kissing her every 3 seconds. I hope you too stay together for a long time. I wish you the best of luck next year and with Monica!

Love
Patty

Robie,

"Big nose!!" trick. No, I'm just playing around when I say that. Hey I think you're real cool and you, me, Ross and Adrian had a cool time basing on eachother in 5th Alt we did in 6th cuts & sleep. Have a cool summer a party down.

Love ☺

Susi Dalter

Robby-
I'm glad we had at least one class together this year. Even though it was with Mr. Scanlon- we have anyway. Have a wonderful summer and we'll see ya next year!!
Class of '87 - friends 4ever
- Yeah!
